Welcome to Malaysia

Today, visitors to Malaysia come by the millions – to do business, to enjoy the sights, sounds and excitement of our rich cultural diversity, relax on our tropical sun-kissed beaches, chill out in our highland resorts, play a round of golf, seek medical care, further their studies, be awed by the Petronas Twin Towers, until recently, the tallest building in the world, visit the orang utan sanctuaries in Sarawak and Sabah, or wonder at the magical sight of the Rafflesia, the world's largest known flower. Most come and leave with fond memories of a unique nation whose way of life is synonymous with open hospitality to all guests. Many among our visitors have come and stayed on to be a part of the Malaysian family.

Selamat datang (Welcome).

Why Choose UPM?

The location of UPM midway between the Kuala Lumpur International Airport (KLIA) to the south and the Malaysian federal capital of Kuala Lumpur to the north, is ideal for an institution of learning and research. This allows for the privacy and quiet conducive for intellectual pursuits while at the same time places it within easy driving distance of urban attractions like shopping, entertainment and dining.

When you come to Malaysia in search of knowledge, or to seek a unique cultural experience, and choose Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM), you know you've made the right choice, for many good reasons.

UPM is one of the premier universities in Malaysia and also one of the five leading research universities in the country. It is an established institution of higher learning, endowed with a legacy of knowledge that goes back more than three-quarters of a century, to 1931, when it began as a modest school of agriculture.

Today, UPM is one of the largest Malaysian public universities with a total student population of approximately 30,000. It is also a mini commonwealth of nations, with more than 3,000 international students from over 60 different countries. Add to this the unique cultural diversity of Malaysian students and UPM is nothing less than a remarkable melting pot of cultures.

At UPM, as you will find in all parts of Malaysia, we have learned to accept differences and found unity, harmony and peace in our diversity.
